A WORLD OF MANY FACES

Upon entering the commons of Meadowbrook High School, one immediately notices the variety of faces and the warmth they exude as well as the flags of many countries respectfully displayed. Stopping to survey the surroundings, one realizes that, unlike many high schools that are easy to categorize, 4901 Cogbill Road and its inhabitants defy any generalization one might make. After all, where else in the Richmond-metro area might a student from Ethiopia greet a Chesterfield County native who rides to school with a young man from Vietnam whose best friend hails from Mexico? The English as a Second Language High School for Chesterfield County, Meadowbrook takes its ability to combine the individual talents of its students to form a mini world that works.

Having come of age in an environment known for its belief in the value of all cultures, MBK students are uniquely suited to face adulthood in a world of continually collapsing cultural barriers. On a daily basis, the Mighty Monarchs display the skills necessary for succeeding in an everchanging, multicultural society. They stand one step ahead of their peers in other more isolated school settings, for they have learned to look beyond a person's face value, to see beyond the skin's hue.

Step into any Meadowbrook High classroom to see the many faces of students and educators actively engaged in learning, teaching, and living, preparing to meet the new millenium face-to-face. Stop by the main office to examine the impressive plan for the school's upcoming facelift. Peer into the cafeteria or the gymnasium to catch a glimpse of students from over thirty different countries interacting. Face it, Meadowbrook High School is a world unto itself!

Shawn Sui

"Meadowbrook has taught me how to break out of my shell because of the many different people and faces."

Heather Eggleston

"Over the past four years, I've grown to see all the different people here as one united race."

La'Tisha Graves

Five Days of Fun "Spirit Week"

Spirit Week at Meadowbrook High School was five fun-filled days for students to boost school spirit and to express their individual creativity.

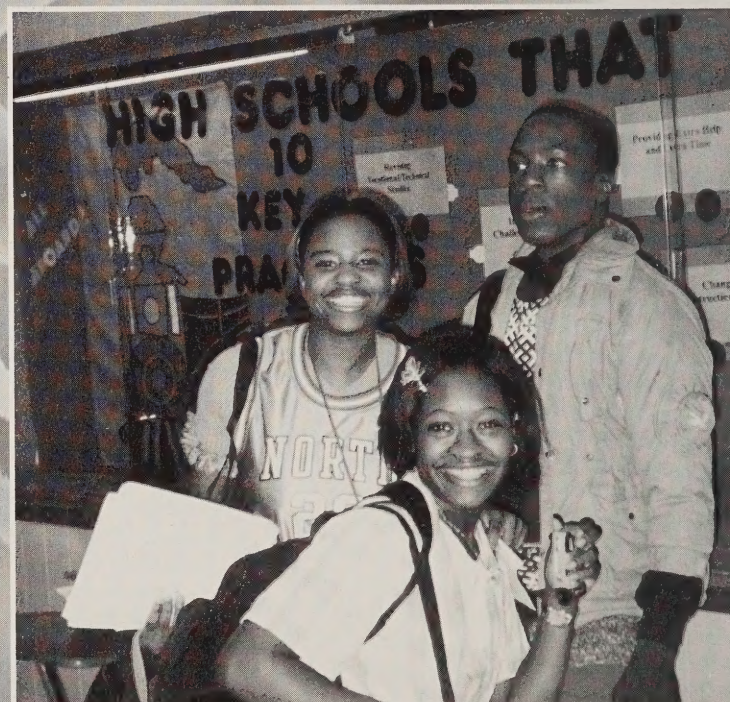

On Monday, the student body kicked the week off with Wacky Tacky Day. Students came to school eccentrically dressed: clashing colors and patterns, clothes worn backwards, odd layers and mismatched shoes.

Anyone walking on the halls on Tuesday would think he or she suffered from "double vision." Tuesday's Twin Day was an exciting day for friends to come to school dressed alike. Although there were many sets of fraternal twins, who weren't totally dressed alike, the best sets of twins were those who wore identical outfits, along with the same hair or shoes.

Hat Day on Wednesday was a special day for students at MBK. This was one day that students were actually permitted to break a school rule and wear their hats inside the building. Many students, expressing their creativity, decided against wearing the traditional baseball cap and wore bizarre head-gear that truly represented their individuality.

Most of the students especially enjoyed Blast from the Past Day on Thursday. This was a day for students to pull out their parents old clothes or to visit the local thrift store and model their old-time fashions at school. The seventies seemed to be a favorite amongst students; we just can't get enough of those groovy, psychedelic fashions.

Friday, students at MBK ended the week with Spirit Week. The halls were filled with students dressed in MBK's colors; blue and gold. By the end of the day, the entire student body and faculty members were excited and anticipating the big evening game.

The Ultimate Explosion "Pep Rally"

Pep rallies raise the spirits of students and provide the opportunity to show energetic approval of teams. As always, MBK pep rallies are an "ultimate explosion". One never knows what to expect at a MBK pep rally, from a dunking contest to a sparring match. Students show excitement as they enter the gym. Without a doubt, the Varsity and J.V. Cheerleaders always arouse the crowd by giving an outstanding performance.

The various teams are introduced and the students give them the recognition they deserve. Students show great school spirit during the cheering competition to gain the class trophy. Each class endures a challenge from one another, but the spirit never dies, MBK teachers also join in the fun, just to take a pie in the face. Like all good things, pep rallies have to come to an end. The students excitedly the gym awaiting the game of the night.

Making Lasting Impressions

"Homecoming 1999"

Homecoming leaves many lasting impressions on the students, staff, faculty, and alumni. This year was no exception. One of the first events was the crowning of the 1999-2000 king and queen, Demarcus Merrit and Natasha Hill.

There were many activities leading up to game-time. The varsity cheerleaders led the way at the homecoming parade. Others met to light the night air with MBK's annual bonfire and of course there were those who couldn't wait to "cut a rug" at the homecoming dance.

After a long wait the band began with the "National Anthem" to start the game. Meadowbrook's Jamal Hinnant was instrumental in helping the Monarchs gain yardage throughout the game. What an end to a great spirit-filled week!

The halftime show was led by Meadowbrook's band, which exhibited its talent in a fascinating show for the crowd. The homecoming court was also around to take on the cheers of the fans. Homecoming will forever remain the cornerstone for a great year at Meadowbrook High School.

HEART TO HEART: 4 EVER FRIENDS

"A friend is someone you can depend on and count on when times are rough." -Liliana Barillia

"A friend is someone who stands by you through your triumphs as well as your failures."

-Nikesha Parker

"A friend is someone who is honest and gives good advice." -Brandy Powell

"Fortify yourself with a flock of friends! You can select them at random, write to one, dine with one, visit one, or take your problem to one. There's always at least one who will understand, inspire, and give you the lift you need at that time."

-George Matthew Adams

A friend is someone who stands beside you when everyone else turns away.
-Ladonte Cooper

Friends are special and cherished."
-Dany Prum

What does it mean to have you for a friend?

"If only I knew where to start...It means having someone to share with whether it's thoughts, feelings, the big things that happen in my life, or just the little everyday things that don't seem important until you make them important by the way you listen and care. It means having someone who understands me completely and knows what I am thinking before I even say a word. It means having someone who cares enough about me to really listen, yet who loves me enough to give me advice and to honestly tell me the things I need to hear. But mostly, having you for a friend means that I'll always have something to be happy about...because my life is so much nicer with you as my friend."

-Ellen Benneman

"A Friend is someone who is loyal and respectful."
-Kimberly Massey

"A Friend is someone who you can confide in and trust with your deepest secrets."
-Keshonda Morris

The Jefferson Hotel "Prom 2000"

On May 26, 2000, the Senior Class participated in an event that will last a lifetime, their prom. It was held at the Jefferson Hotel in Richmond, Virginia. Seniors and Juniors alike indulged in a glamorous evening sit for royalty. The night began with the senior walk. Francis Amposah and Kendra Noel took center stage as Prom King and Queen. Once the party began, the students danced the night away until midnight. The prom gave students a chance to relax, to be with friends, and to dress up.

Next, their fun continued at the Robious Fitness Center. While there, they participated in various activities, such as karoake, basketball, swimming and much more. The festivities lasted until 4:00 a.m. with many students winning great door prizes.

Graduation Day

"Facing the Future"

On June 16, 2000, the Senior Class of Meadowbrook High School embraced their future. The students entered the Seigel Center while being recognized by family, friends, teachers, and peers. Valedictorian, Monica Zapata shared inspiring words with fellow graduates as did Salutatorian, Hung Van. They each remarked about the many joyful and memorable events that this class has encountered over their four years together. The class of 2000 has begun to emerge into a "world of many faces". Good Luck!

FACING CHALLENGES

Bombarded with tests, quizzes, and homework, it seems the academic life of MBK students is constantly in motion. They set and achieve goals, students embrace master skills, and excel in the classroom. Students are preparing themselves for the world outside of high school and far beyond MBK doors.

Utilizing assistance from teachers, mentors, and peers, students embrace academic challenges and set unyielding personal goals that will last a lifetime.

English & History

Power Courses

English and History are two of the core courses that lay the foundation for an exceptional education. In the English Department, teachers further their pupils' knowledge in literature with an emphasis on preparing students to enter the world as strong writers and active readers. Here at MBK, students are encouraged to be life long learners. Students are challenged in the areas of composition, technical writing, literature, and drama.

The History Department introduces students to stories of the past, politics, economics and geography. Through their instruction, Meadowbrook's teachers give their students some of the most important tools to be successful.

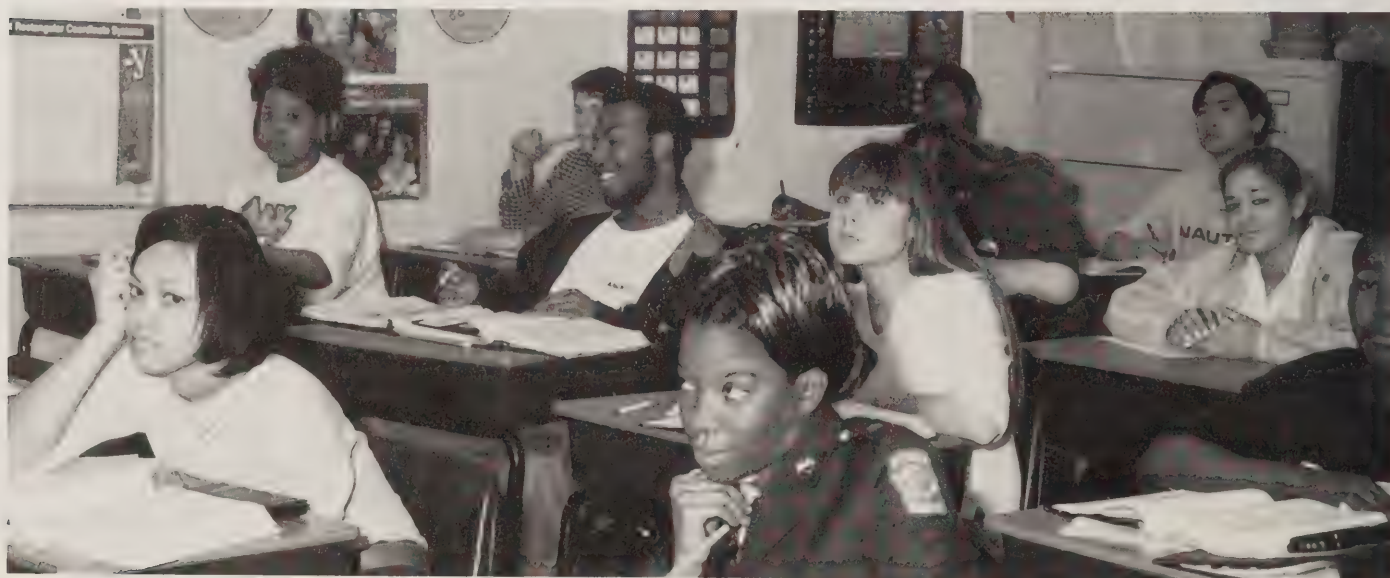

The power courses, such as English and History, are prime examples of such tools.

Math and Science

Power Courses

In all areas of academics, Meadowbrook students are being constantly challenged. The Mathematics and Science Departments are both excellent resources for the growing technology in today's world. Our students are given every opportunity to be competitive among those in higher education and in the job market. Many of the courses consist of computer-based curriculums. With these advancements, students and teachers have broadened their range of professional choices. Along with all of these opportunities, many of Meadowbrook's students are also eligible for the (IB) International Baccalaureate Program, which has been a wonderful addition to Meadowbrook's core curriculum. With the help of teachers and parents, students have been given the keys to the doors of success. The students must use all of their accumulated knowledge, skills, and experiences to step through those doors.

MAKING MEMORABLE MUSIC

Some of the most favored and well known electives deal with music. Whether it be band, orchestra, or chorus, each of these performance groups have made a positive impact on Meadowbrook. They give students an outlet to many new experiences, making them well rounded individuals. They also allow MBK students to share their talents with their teachers, parents, and peers.

Throughout the school year, the students are given the opportunity to take their show on the road, from the local elementary schools to destinations around the country. The band recently took a trip to Florida. What a honor for them to get such recognition! The chorus is most remembered for its annual spring concert, which is the highlight of their year.

The tremendous amount of talent within the music students is shown in the many music achievements that they make.

ELECTIVES

Electives at MBK teach students skills that are essential. In areas, such as Industrial Technology, Business, JROTC, Family Life and Art, students can excel, making themselves marketable in the business world.

The industrial technology students construct many interesting artifacts to share with family and friends, while the business students are given on the job training to include on their resume. JROTC students are drilled with experience in preparation for military life. Family Life students obtain skills that will enable them to be ready for life on their own, embracing the college experience or becoming productive homemakers. Art students exhibit their talents by displaying their work in the school commons and entering competitions. Photography is an important component in the Art Department; it is a tool that students can use to preserve memories. Meadowbrook has relied on such memories to make its 1999/2000 yearbook possible!

Facing
the Facts

Facing
Facts

While freshmen and sophomores still feel they have ample time to explore their career paths, juniors know they must begin to examine their options more carefully. Eleventh-graders face stresses such as taking the Standards of Learning Test as well as the Scholastic Aptitude Test and narrowing their selection of colleges, technical schools, or full-time jobs. As they prepare for their senior year of high school, juniors must welcome the possibility of change while remembering their individual beginnings. They comprehend the importance of strengthening their relationships with the people who influence their world and help them achieve goals--- parents, teachers, guidance counselors, coaches, mentors, and friends. A junior's face reveals the sign of adulthood, a sense of self-confidence and pride. Eagerly, they await their next rite of passage, their senior year.

Facing the Road Ahead

Having survived their freshman year, sophomore Monarchs strive to transform their world into one in which they assume more responsibility for their actions and make important decisions for themselves. They smile and wave at friends from behind the wheel of a car, an unforgettable step toward freedom. Their irrepressible energy helps them face the pressures of PSAT's, their first job, challenging classes, and dating. Not quite cubs anymore, they leave their dens more often and search for their own territory. With a sense of assurance, sophomores guide freshmen through paths that no longer are formidable to them. As they order their class rings and visit the College and Career Center, perhaps for the first time, they must realize how far they've traveled as well as how far they still must go.

Facing their Fears

Freshman year in high school is an experience like no other, a first step toward independence. Who could ever forget trying to process all of the new information during the first day of school and to locate classrooms on a sprawling campus? How exciting is it to beat the sophomores in the spirit contest during the pep rally? Exactly how difficult is the Standards of Learning Test? Why are the classes so much more challenging in high school than in middle school? Ambivalence is a word that characterizes the first year of high school for most students, for they feel both excited to see their faces finally appear in the Meadowbrook Monarch's yearbook and overwhelmed by the amount of brain power they must use in order to succeed. Freshman year seems to pass at the fast forward speed, as students face the realization that middle school is just a memory.

Seniors

Facing the Finale

In anticipation of the crucial moment when they walk across the stage to receive their diplomas in their final high school performance, Seniors must rehearse their roles carefully. They become accustomed to smiling for the audience, for they are the stars of the school. All eyes are on the Seniors as they sit for senior portraits, pose for their group photograph, request their letters of recommendation, open their mail from colleges, technical schools, or the military, compete in their last high school sports events, order their caps and gowns, vote for senior superlatives, and dance the night away at prom. They are both anxious to hear the commencement crowd's applause and nostalgic for their younger years when life was a bit less complex. Having reached one of the most important milestones of their lives, Seniors stride proudly though the halls of Meadowbrook High School, knowing for certain that they have left an indelible impression. Finally, they are ready to face their next roles in the world of adults.

The year 2000 was supposed to be the end, but it is really the beginning. We are going on to live the adult life. Some of us will make it; some of us won't. Some of us never made it to this point. We've lost loved ones, and gained cherished ones; we've felt sorrow, pain, sadness, and joy. We've grown from infants into the people we are now: survivors, proud and graduating. One day, we will be able to look back and pass our stories on to the next generation. This marker

Because Baby Look At You Now!!

Faculty/Staff

I remember sitting in my 8th grade classes listening to my teachers and high school students, who visited us, encouraged and informed us of the life of a high school student. Some of the words of wisdom included things like “do your work on time,” or “you have your own freedom to either succeed or fail.” At the time, I felt that these messages were insignificant and useless. One particular message that seems to stick out in my mind the most was the one about high school being a time of transition to maturity. Without the experience of knowledge then, I “knew it all” and felt that high school was not going to be any harder than anything that I had already conquered. The teachers would be the same old boring, uncaring people who made life in school miserable. I thought that this was their goal, to punish kids and make their life as difficult as possible. I soon learned I was wrong!

Thanks to the teacher who took me in as an 8th grader in a high school environment and not only taught me, but raised me to maturity as she would raise her own child.

Thanks to all of the teachers who gave me the inspiration to drive harder when they knew I could perform better. I thank you all for going out of your way to make sure I was doing my best and treating me as an equivalent.

Thanks to the teacher who made a perfectly-timed phone call and listened to my tears as a family issue was in full blaze. Thank you for drying my eyes and showing me hope. Thank you for not only being my role model but my friend, guide, and teacher. Thank you for your respect.

Thanks to the teacher who, no matter what time or where, would always be willing to give me a hug and compliments. Your positive attitude and love has shown me purpose and faith. Thanks to the teacher who taught me that even in a society that always seems to be falling apart, I can make a difference on my own by contributing my best and to never look back at the things that we despise in our society but to respect and cherish it as it is.

Thanks to the personal instructor who compliments me and puts a smile on my face every morning. She has shown me that we can do anything and enjoy it. She has given me responsibility that a student cannot dream for. It shows me that she trusts me as much as we trust our closest loved ones.

Lastly, thanks to the teacher who has taught me fairness and equality. She has shown me personally how much teachers care individually for their students. She has shown me that anything can be fairly worked out when we work it out in a respectable manner.

I would like to thank all of the teachers of this fine school. Even those that I never had. I now realize that the income of teachers is not why they teach. It is the love and joy teachers receive when they know they have made a difference in improving the life of a young adult. They cherish the time spent in maturing us from kids to adults. Now that I am about to leave this unforgettable life of good times, bad times, and everything in between. I cannot thank you enough for making me the person I am today. By: Ryan Boze

ROCKING WITH HIGH ENERGY

Varsity cheerleaders keep in step as they deliver yet another fantastic cheer.

Holliflies high into a basket toss.

Braving the cold and rainy weather, Amanda, Linia, Ashley, Shaunte, and Johnetta are all smiles as they try to keep dry at the football game.

JV cheerleaders threw candy and cheered in the Homecoming parade.

There were three players who played exceptionally well in this game and scored over 20 points: Stacy Moore-21 points, Brittany Green-28 points, and Britney Anderson-28 points. The Co-MVP's for the season were our two senior captains, Stacy Moore and Nikki Graves. Britney Anderson, a freshman, finished out the season with some outstanding accomplishments. She was named MVP in the district tournament, 1st team all region, 2nd team all metro, and the third leading scorer in the area. Stacy Moore was 1st team all district and made the all district tournament team. Meadowbrook ranked third in the Richmond Times-Dispatch poll for the area. Jerry Gibbs' JV players did an excellent job as they finished out the season with an overall record of 16 to 1 and were undefeated in the district.

The girls ended the season with an overall record of 22 wins and 3 losses. This is the farthest any MBK Girls' team has ever gone. They ended the season when they lost in the semi-finals of the regional tournament to the State Champions, Midlothian High School, at the Seigel Center. MBK's girls won the Central District title for the third straight year with a 13 and 1 record. Their greatest highlight of the year was defeating Varina High School in the quarter-finals of the regionals, ending with a score of 86 to 77 in overtime.

Yearbook

The yearbook staff is comprised of many bright and energetic students who helped to make this 1999-2000 yearbook possible. To all of those hard-working students, thanks for a job well done. This is a new beginning for the Meadowbrook yearbook staff. A new class has been developed just for the yearbook. Students will now have the opportunity to take part in the decision-making process for developing their yearbook.

FAME

The Spring musical “FAME” was a great hit! It was based on the real performing Arts High School in New York City. This particular school housed all aspects of the performing arts: theatre, dance, vocal music, instrumental music, as well as the academics. The students auditioned in their area of expertise to be accepted. Once the selection was made, they took classes in all the disciplines of the arts. The high school is composed of students from every social-economic group and every ethnic group. It was an enjoyable time for all involved.

It is indeed an honor to dedicate this 2000-2001 yearbook to Mr. Everett Butler. His dedication to the students at MBK, his strong work ethics, and his ability to go above and beyond the classroom for his students earned him this recognition. Mr. Butler graduated from Virginia Commonwealth University in 1967. His first teaching job was in Maryland in 1968; he later moved to Chesterfield County and he taught at Elcarta Annex for one year and Robious for one year. Mr. Butler earned his Master's Degree in Instructional Development from Virginia State University. He's taught at Meadowbrook High School for 28 years until his retirement this year, June 2000. Mr. Butler will be greatly missed, but always remembered as a stern task master. We will always look at the Lion statue and remember what Mr. Butler meant to all of us. Thank You for a beautiful creation! Your thoughtfulness will forever be remembered. When we think of you, a butterfly comes to mind, making its transition from one stage in life to another.

Thank you for being a star at MBK. You have brightened our days with your many acts of kindness. Thank you for donating so many pictures to our year-book staff. Without the pictures, this 1999-2000 year-book would not have been possible. I would like to express a special thank you to your family for allowing us to consume so much of your time.

Mrs. Salley

Thank you for helping me put the final pieces to this puzzle. The pictures you donated were the items we needed. Also, thank you for allowing me to bother you this summer. I will always remember your kindness.

Mrs. Salley

To my husband and son, you two make my life worth living. I love you both. Thank you for supporting me through this entire project. I also wanted to express my gratitude to those who were instrumental in helping me to complete the 1999/2000 yearbook. The challenge began for me on February 22, 2000 and ended August 23, 2000. Without the help of dedicated friends, colleagues and students, I would not have been able to complete such a task. I want to begin by thanking the numerous students who stayed back after school to help. To Jessica Hester, Mercedes Riddick, Brock Daniels, and Tiffany White thank you for helping countless hours after school. To Keshonda Morris, James Powell, Amber Lorton and Courtney Ward, thanks for taking time out of your busy schedules this summer to help identify students. To my colleagues Mrs. Holland and Ms. Bennett thank you for your support. Mrs. Holland, your words of wisdom have truly been a blessing. Ms. Bennett, you've been a great help to me during the summer, investing your time to see this project through. God has his way of placing special people in your path at the right time. To my best friend, Kenya Jones, thank you for being a great friend and making your way from Chesapeake, VA twice a week to help me with the yearbook. To my students, I give my best. Thanks for making me feel apart of the MBK family.

Mrs. Parcilla Salley

Dear Chanel, Underclassmen Editor:

Upon entering my classroom I found you to be very quiet and reserved, but as the school year progressed, the shield slowly unveiled. I found a very witty, outgoing, patient, outspoken, and dedicated young lady. Thank you for all of your hard work and time you have put into this 1999-2000 yearbook. Once Chanel was given a task, I could count on it being done. Thank you for the countless hours you stayed behind with me after school. Also, thank you for prolonging your summer vacation for one week to help out.

Mrs. Salley

Dear Tri, Senior Editor:

Thank you for all of your help and support on the 1999- 2000 yearbook. Your leadership skills have been a true blessing to all of us.

"Don't Quit"

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will, when the road you're trudging seems all uphill, when the funds are low and the debts are high and you want to smile but you have to sigh, when care is pressing you down a bit, rest if you must, but don't quit. Life is queer with its twists and turns, as everyone of us sometimes learns, and many a failure turns about, when he might have won had he stuck it out, don't give up though the pace seem slow, you may succeed with another blow, success is failure turned inside out, the silver tint of the clouds of doubt, and you never can tell how close you are, It may be near when it seems so far; so stick to the fight when you're hardest hit, It's when things seem worse that you must not quit. Author Unknown

Sincerely, Mrs. Salley
